to the border, saying that they needed their taxes from the Netherlands. "You'll have to get off the road," the Dutch border guard said. They had another 80km to go. "Where are you going to sleep tonight?" he asked them. "In a field," they told him, and started to walk. The border guard looked at them and then looked around. "You'll have to sleep in the ditch there," he said. "You're almost there." The farmer is a queer, chubby man, in his early sixties. I asked him why he had done what he had done, and he gave a wry smile. "I've had some incredible things happen to me over the years. But they've all been for the better. I don't know if I could say I've been blessed. But you have your good times, and you have your bad times. And you have to learn to be a good man in the bad times. I did. I was in a bad place, and I made bad mistakes. And it's not my fault, or anything else's. It's how life is." May 03, 2019 Welcome to the Windows Collection 2019 providing a Windows Download for every need. We have everything to make your life easier as you are most . I get this error when trying to activate my Windows 7. I have tried everything I can think of. I downloaded the ISO file, I chkdsk both iso and c: and made sure they were both valid. I downloaded an activation file from Microsoft. I tried to download from Microsoft.com but couldn't find the link. What could be the problem? A: The error message you have provided is more than likely to be related to the fact that the ISO you are downloading is corrupt in some way. If you do not know the URL of the ISO you were supplied with, you can try again, but make sure you do not attempt to download it from other sources. You can download the ISO file direct from Microsoft website by following the steps below: Download the ISO file of your Operating System (aka Windows 7 Ultimate in your case) from the link provided below: Run the Windows 10 activation tool. You need to make sure it is the correct ISO you downloaded. Make sure you have followed the steps correctly and tested the ISO is valid. If the file is valid, after the activation process finishes, close the Windows 10 activation tool, and open the file you downloaded from step 1. The download file should automatically open in Windows Explorer.
